

Do you think people who struggled with opioids
should have a voice in research and policies that affect treatment options?

Do you think that voice is heard?

We want to learn from you!

OAR-VEB (Opioid Addiction and Recovery Veteran Engagement Board) is made up of veterans who have struggled with opioids in a variety of ways. The purpose of OAR-VEB is to bring Veteran perspectives to the development of VA research projects, programs, and policies relating to opioids and opioid use disorder.

OAR-VEB meets monthly by phone to lend their expertise to current local and national projects on opioid addiction and treatment.

Please note that OAR-VEB members are research partners, this is not a support group.

All Veterans who have struggled with any form of opioids are invited to apply.
